AMES, Iowa (KCAU) – The 185th Air Refueling Wing was part of Saturday’s college football entertainment.

The 185th conducted a flyover of Jack Trice Stadium in Ames Saturday before the Iowa State University versus Oklahoma State University Football game. The plane that flew over the stadium was a KC-135 Stratotanker.

Flyovers are part of their Community Relations mission. Providing a chance for them to be seen and thank the public for the support.
“Not a lot of people know what we do here so this a small way for us to show that we are trying to do good things and provide stuff for the local communities,” one of the pilots, 1st Lt. Tyler Kludt, said.

Kludt added that it helps them as a form of training.

“It also provides good training for our pilots and air crew because our job and primary mission is to be on time and on air speed and there is no better way of showing we can do that then in front of thousands of people,” said Kludt.

The air crew landed at a nearby airport after the flyover, and then watched the game at the stadium. They were also brought onto the field and recognized at the end of the third quarter.
Members of the 185th Air Refueling Wing stand on Jack Trice Field for a brief recognition during the Iowa State University vs. Oklahoma State University game on Oct. 26 in Ames, Iowa. The Airmen conducted a flyover of the stadium before the start of the game.
Smart Lifestyle Trends

CRAIG, Iowa (KCAU) – This year’s unusually wet season is continuing to impact farmers and is trickling down in the agriculture industry.

This year, most of the corn yield is about 5 to 6 percent wetter than previous years. Craig’s Co-op said they expect to be drying corn non-stop for at least the next two weeks.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa (KCAU) – Authorities are now considering a suspicious death investigation as a homicide. The Woodbury County Sheriff’s Office held a news conference Wednesday afternoon on the investigation of a suspicious death in Sioux City.
Afternoon Forecast: October 30, 2019

by SCOTT LARSON / Oct 30, 2019

Tonight will be very cold with the temperature dropping into the mid teens under a mostly clear sky. Sioux City will be fairly close to the record low temperature of 12° set back in 1993. Bundle up!

We should have a decent Halloween tomorrow with sunshine and an afternoon high in the mid 40s. Temperatures will be in the mid to upper 30s for trick-or-treating...best for the kids to bundle up under or over the costumes before heading out to get candy!
185th conducts flyover at Saturday's ISU game | SiouxlandProud | Sioux City, IA | News, Weather, and Sports

34°

4. Alex Trebek releases cancer PSA: 'I wish I had known sooner'

5. Cherokee Camera