

Contributing to transportation research...

YOUR ROLE AS A RESEARCH LIAISON

THE NEED

The Research Liaison fulfills a critical role as the first point of contact between Iowa DOT Research and stakeholders, prioritizing effective communications to ensure research efforts are clear, needs are understood, and everyone involved is heard.

The Research Liaison also facilitates ongoing collaboration among research stakeholders, supporting overall research efforts. Learn more about how the roles work together to succeed.

THE ROLE

- Become familiar with the research processes
- Relay announcements, inquiries, and requests from the research section
- Return feedback and other communications to the research section
- Serve as a resource for general research-related information
- Collaborate with other research liaisons and stakeholders

ABOUT IOWA DOT RESEARCH

As stewards of Iowa's transportation systems, we are committed to serving the people and businesses of our state with honesty, integrity, reliability, and transparency.

We are recognized around the world as a leader in transportation research, developing the cutting-edge materials, processes, and technologies needed to make lives better through transportation.